

Lutterworth thwarts fee hike

A bid to double the fire standby fee Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships is charging Lutterworth Township will be thwarted by a clause in the contract.

Lutterworth will pay the same rate of $4,000 again this year, despite Minden's attempts to apply a 100 per cent increase. In addition, Lutterworth will be investigating the possibility of establishing its own fire department to end its reliance on Minden.

At last Thursday's Council meeting, Deputy Reeve Carol Puffer made it clear that she was annoyed by Minden's attempt to up the rates without consulting Lutterworth Council. She said the first she heard

90 - day notice is needed to alter fire agreement of it was in the newspaper.

"They got my back up," she said. And she decided to take a closer look at the contractual agreement made last year between the two municipalities. What she found was a clause indicating that a 90-day notice period is required in order to make any changes to the contract.

The clause reads as follows: "This agreement shall be deemed to be in effect from the first day of January, 1987, and continue in effect from year to year thereafter - except that either party may terminate this agreement, or propose amendments thereto by giving the other party notice in writing at least 90 days prior to the anniversary date in any year thereafter. Unless amended, renewal of the herein agreement shall be automatic annually."

Puffer also noted that another clause in the agreement had been completely scratched out by Minden,

Flood zoning put to test

Lutterworth Township has decided to test the Ministry of Natural Resources' will by approving a building permit on property designated as flood plain.

Bylaw enforcement officer Ernie Roylance asked council for its feelings regarding issuing a permit to Shirley Colliss to build on property along the Gull River and within the area the ministry hopes to have zoned as Environmental Protection area.

In the past, council would have turned this request down, said Reeve Bill Valentine. However, that was when the municipality was trying to co-operate with the ministry.

Everything has changed now and the municipality is at loggerheads with the ministry over its flood plain mapping. "We have been stymied all along," said Valentine. "Let's give her the permit and see what happens."

Roylance told council he had already checked with the solicitor and was told the municipality has a legal right to issue a building permit in this area. Although the ministry has completed its mapping, the municipality is not yet willing to have it adopted into the zoning bylaws.

"We've been going round and round the mulberry bush for so long, it might just bring this all to a head," said Valentine. By approving the building permit, the municipality will be testing the ministry to see what steps, if any, it will take to stop the construction.

Because this is a test situation, council will make sure the property owner, whose address is in Oshawa, is aware of the implications.

Colliss will be advised in a letter that the property is in the ministry's flood plain and could possibly be zoned EP. She will be advised that this zoning may affect the property value and will be required to sign a hold harmless agreement with the township.

Faced with the potential devaluation of properties in the area being designated, council has been looking for ways of resisting the ministry's initiative. Gord Monk, who is chairman of a property owners group, attended Thursday's meeting to bring council up to date on what progress is being made.

Monk said he has tried to contact Victoria - Haliburton M.P.P. John Eakins, but has received no "real response". He said Eakins contacted him by phone and by a letter, but he is still waiting for some action to be taken.

In the meantime, Monk, on behalf of the group, has sent a letter to the leaders of both provincial opposition parties. In the letter he notes that there has never

Kinmount celebrates education

Kinmount Public School students Colleen Longhurst and Tina Franzen take a close look as the steady hand and brush of wildlife artist Terrence Andrews gently creates an image. Andrews gave an interesting talk and demonstration to the students on Wednesday as part of the school's activities during Education Week. The Fenelon Falls artist has been gaining much recognition for his paintings. The one above was featured in a book along with works from other great wildlife artists.

Board hires principal

Peter Forgrave, the vice principal of a school in Wawa, will be the new principal of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School this coming September.

The board of education recently completed interviews of four applicants for the position being vacated by Andrew Hemphill. The position was subsequently offered to Forgrave.

Forgrave earned his B.A. in English and Psychology at the University of Waterloo, Bachelor of Physical Education at McMaster, and Master of Education at Brock. He has participated in curriculum writing at the Ministry of Education level and worked locally on developing co-operative education.

Forgrave is married and the father of three children, ages 13, 11 and 7. His interest in outdoor sports and community activities will serve him well in the Highlands.

Minden to Minden

September trip is a go

The trip to Minden, Germany by residents of this community will be going ahead in September. Cub Coneybeare, Minden representative for Town and Country Travel Consultants, confirmed last week that enough people have indicated they will be taking part to make the trip a success. The visit to Minden, Germany is being promoted by The Times.

An information night, April 13 drew over 50 people to a meeting at the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office. Those in attendance viewed a number of films highlighting the sights to be seen on the tour and were given detailed information about the two week itinerary.

The trip was organized primarily to repay a number of visits Minden, Germany residents have made to this community over the past few years. A full tour, including stops in Berlin, Munich, Austria, and Switzerland has been organized to round out a two week European visit.

While details of the three day Minden, Germany visit are still being worked out with officials of that community, initial plans call for a civic reception, a tour of restored windmills in the countryside around Minden, a trip along the Weser River by bus where wooden houses, several centuries old, dot the landscape, and a boat tour of the canal and river complex that meets at Minden. Other possibilities for the Minden portion of the trip include a visit to a hot springs health spa and a casino.

The tour leaves Canada September 23 and returns to Minden October 9. A bus to and from here will help ease check-in at Pearson International Airport. During the two week tour of Europe, the group will have a bus at its disposal and a member of the tour company will be on hand at all times. All breakfasts and dinners are included in the tour package, along with first class accommodations. The air travel portion of the trip is being provided by Wardair.

According to Cub Coneybeare, there are still a number of seats available on the tour for those interested in joining the group. For more information on the visit to Minden, Germany, contact Cub Coneybeare at The Butcher Shop, Main Street Minden.

Considers own fire department

without consulting Lutterworth. This clause requires the Minden Fire Department to respond to fires in areas of the township covered by other fire departments when required.

"There is no reason to be treated like this," said Puffer. "We're neighbouring townships. There should be some co-operation."

Council fully supported Puffer's suggestion that Minden be held to the agreement. They will pay the $4,000 standby fee as set out in the agreement, but will not pay the increase demanded by Minden.

Council's feelings that they are being treated unfairly by Minden are shared by their counterparts in Stanhope Township. Ironically, Stanhope provides fire service to a section of Hindon Township at a fee. They adjusted their rates with a 25 per cent increase, hoping this might convince Minden to reconsider the 100 per cent increase it is charging Lutterworth and Snowdon Townships.

Minden currently supplies a standby fire service to sections of both Lutterworth and Snowdon Townships. The standby fee for Snowdon has also been upped from $2,000 to $4,000. In addition to the standby fee, the fire department is paid $250 for the first hour, and $25 per hour after that, when it responds to a fire in these municipalities.

Although it appears Lutterworth Township has managed to avoid the increase this year, future increases are inevitable. Puffer said it is unfortunate that Lutterworth does not have its own fire department, and she hopes the November elections will provide a more co-operative council in Minden.

In the meantime, though, she suggested that a reserve fund should be set up to start saving for a future Lutterworth Fire Department. The idea of forming their own fire department was welcomed across the council table. Reeve Bill Valentine noted that the municipality is growing, and is getting to the point where it can support its own department. Councillor Elizabeth Wright suggested that, instead of setting up a reserve fund, the municipality should look into borrowing the money.

It was noted that, despite the costs of purchasing fire protection from other municipalities, there are no guarantees. For example, when Stedmans in Haliburton burned, there was no one answering the phone at the Minden Fire Department for about three hours, council heard. During that time, Lutterworth Township had no fire protection.

Council agreed that a committee should be formed to investigate the pros and cons of establishing a fire department in Lutterworth. They will be looking into costs as well as looking to see what property might be available.

been any loss of life or real property damage caused by high water in the past 100 years, and questions the methods used by the ministry to determine the flood levels. The letter was accompanied by a petition, which Monk says was signed by 70 per cent of the property owners in the affected areas of Lutterworth and Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships.

Monk encouraged Lutterworth Township to continue its fight against the flood zoning. He said council is right to resist passing the bylaw until the ministry proves what it is saying.

The ministry has not proven there is any danger of flood damage to the areas being designated as flood plain, he said, and council has the ability to accept or reject the ministry's mapping. But once it is accepted, there will be no turning back, he warned. "I think you have the ministry on the ropes if you want to use it."

Council should tell the ministry it will reject the zoning until such time as the ministry can prove there is danger of flooding. "I think you have the ministry on the run if you want to use it."

Lutterworth Council needed no convincing, though. It has already decided to put everything on hold, at least until the ministry clears up the many questions they have.

Good move

Lutterworth Township Council, and especially Deputy Reeve Carol Puffer, deserve a pat on the back for their ability to defeat Anson, Hindon and Minden's attempt to double the fire department's standby fee.

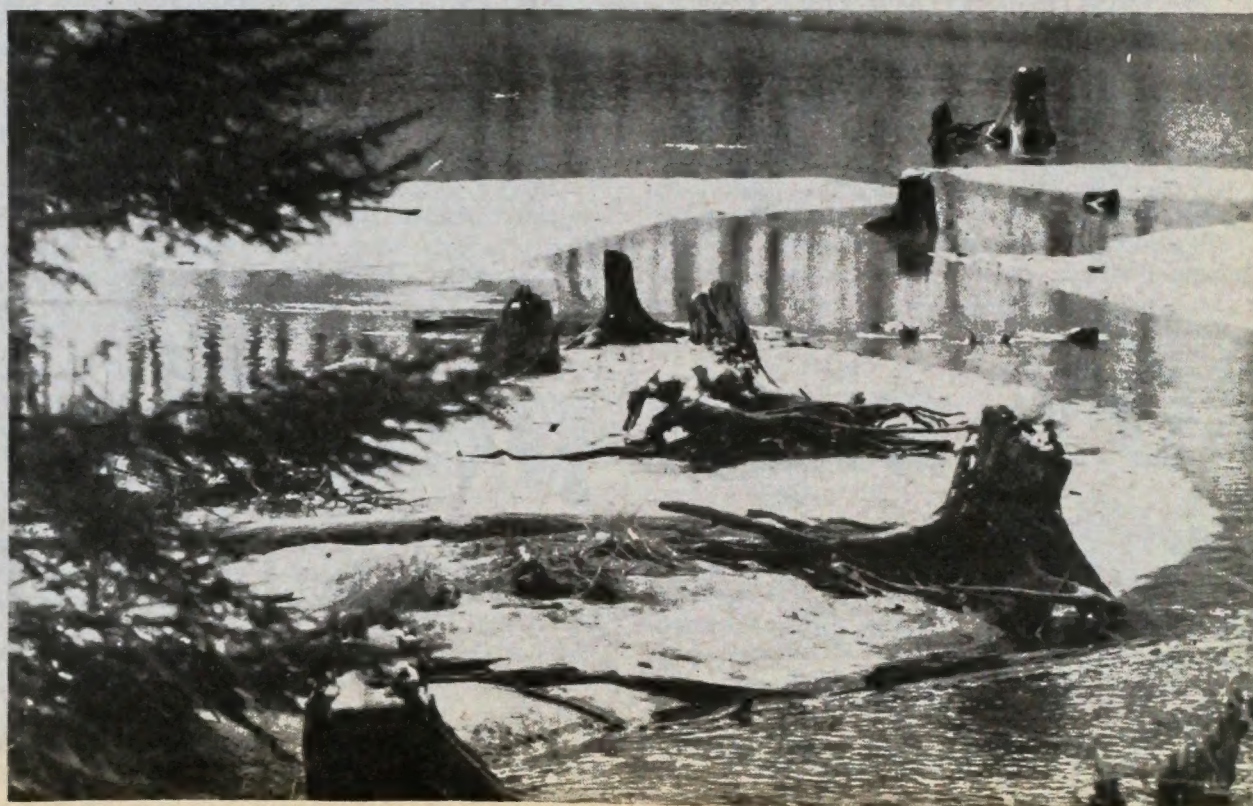

Although it will surely be argued that the fee increase is warranted, the manner in which it was delivered to Lutterworth and Snowdon Townships could hardly be called neighbourly. Neither of these two municipalities which purchase fire services from Minden were consulted before the bomb was dropped. And to further upset matters, an entire clause was eliminated from the contract, again with no consultation.

Soon the matter of amalgamation will be raised at the county level, and by all indications it will fizzle and die right there.

And why shouldn't it? If Minden Council can show no regard for two of its nearest neighbours now, the loss of a full elected council in these municipalities could spell disaster. The concerns of these smaller municipalities will be in the control of people elected mainly from the population centre. Judging by the actions of the present council in Minden, the smaller centres need the protection that only a full municipal council can provide.

The irony in this situation is that while Minden council is one of the most vocal voices in favour of amalgamation, it is defeating its own goal by alienating its neighbours. Lutterworth Council is now looking into establishing its own fire department because of the fee increase asked for by Minden. If Lutterworth is successful in establishing a fire department, it will be that much more independent, and councils will feel less compelled to amalgamate in the future.

Lutterworth taxpayers have been spared $4,000 because of some keen observations by their councillors. Let's hope Snowdon Township Council can also find a way around this fee hike.

Waters belong to all

Editor:

Where will it lead? It seems that more and more lakes and waterways are being closed to the public. As area residents who own lakefront property keep on attempting to close the use of their lakes to the public, a backlash will occur.

People, who are willing to purchase property in this area, find an increasing resistance to lake access, and they feel it simply is not fair.

The waterways should belong to everyone, and public access should be mandatory to all public waterways, indeed law! Just because a group of property owners own the lake front property of a lake or river, they should not be allowed to turn this waterway into a private one. Speak to some residents of the Georgian Bay area, and you will find that ownership of lakefront property is a very divisive matter.

Don't let it happen here.

'Just who is our neighbour'

On one occasion we asked the Teacher, "What must we do to be a good Christian?"

"What do the Scriptures tell you?" he replied. "How do you interpret them?"

And we answered, 'Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind;' and 'Love your neighbour as your self.'

"That's very good. That's the right answer," the Teacher said. "Do this and you will live."

However, we wanted to know more. We wanted to know what the limits were. It was all very well to "do this and live", but weren't there exceptions?

So we asked, "And just who is our neighbour?"

The Teacher replied like this:

"A young girl took a short cut to her home after the school dance. She was walking through an alley behind a downtown store when two young men

directions

by Edward Moll

grabbed her, stripped and raped her, beat her unconscious and left her for dead.

A man was on his way home from a prayer meeting. He noticed her lying on the ground in the alleyway. He pulled his eyes away from the nakedness and walked on a bit faster, saying something about 'the way young people are today'.

An older woman passed by and noticed the form in the half-light of the alley. She was afraid and hurried on.

But then a homosexual who was travelling by that way noticed her, and when she saw the girl, her heart was filled with compassion. She went over to her, cleaned her wounds as best she could with some tissue. She then covered the girl with her own coat and gently carried her to the car and drove her to the hospital and stayed with her there. The police came and went. The mother and father came and saw their child. They came out to thank the one who helped, and she said to them,

"Your daughter is going to need counselling after this. See that she gets it," and she handed them two hundred dollars. "That's a start. When I'm back again this way I'll see how she's doing."

The Teacher then asked us a question: "Which one of these three was a neighbour to the girl who was raped?"

And we had to answer. We had no choice:

"The one who was kind to her"

The Teacher replied:

"You go then and do the same."

Speak up

Editor:

We as concerned parents, do not agree on the new location for the younger and new students in our community. We feel it is hard enough for the younger children to go to school and leave their families for a whole day as it is, let alone be separated from their older brothers and sisters in the Archie Stouffer Public School. We as taxpayers do not wish for our money to go in on this, as you can see a lot of other parents do agree.

There must be a better solution to all this overloading situation. Why not put taxpayers' money to better use instead of putting it in on sports in our community that we do not need? How is it there is enough taxpayers' money for this and not better schooling. The Board of Education had a meeting to ask the parents what we wanted and thought. But what was the use of this? They already had their minds made up before these meetings ever took place. Dollo's ex IGA store was not safe enough for them to fix over on account of it sinking in a bog. So, we ask, why put our children in there? If something happens to our children, it will be the parents that suffer not the Board.

Persons coming into our community may not realize the situation. We feel as a caring community it has come time to speak up and out for the safety of our children.

Radiant Royalty

The great thing about Shakespeare - well, one of several great things about Shakespeare I suppose - was his ability to boil down massive, fundamental truths into tiny, bite-sized nuggets. Take this grumpy aside, muttered almost as an afterthought by the king in Henry IV, Part II:

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown

There it is, just eight little words - seven of them no more than a single syllable - but oh, what a world of meaning.

I was reminded of that phrase when my eye was caught by a newspaper photograph last week. It shows a well-dressed, middle-aged woman of regal bearing, bending attentively over an elderly woman sitting before her. The woman in the chair, by way of a conversational gambit, is taking out her dentures.

The regal looking lady she is showing them to is Queen Silvia of Sweden.

Queen Silvia was on a state visit to Canada with her husband King Carl XVI Gustaf. During their visit they were sentenced to an exhibition of tapestries, a boy scout reception, and several dozen scintillating side trips, including one to the Faculty of Dentistry at the University of Toronto - whence originated the aforementioned spontaneous denture display.

Nothing wrong with offering up one's false choppers for royal inspection, I suppose, but it does neatly illustrate how low the royal estate has fallen. There was a time when having blue blood meant pomp and pageantry, battles, balls and coronations. Today it means an endless round of stuffy teas and wearisome luncheons, countless hours of standing in reception lines and sitting on reviewing stands. Miles of smiles and an eternity of handshakes from strangers.

The boredom of royal itineraries would be enough to reduce any mere mortal to a blob of gibbering Jello, but royals are expected to remain

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

serene and radiant throughout.

And mostly they do. There's a story about Elizabeth the Queen Mother paying a state visit to Australia, during which she found herself momentarily cut off from the Royal Party and surrounded by a mob of inquisitive and somewhat boisterous natives. Nodding graciously and flashing that shimmering smile as the crowd pressed in upon her, she murmured in a velvet-couched, steely undertone: "Please don't touch the exhibits."

Some royals are less gracious. Prince Phillip has a notoriously short fuse and has let his Monarchical guard down more than once.

Such as the time in Calgary when he was presented with that city's trademark handout for VIPs - the dreaded White Stetson. Prince Phillip took one look and yawped: "Oh migawd, not another one?"

Or the time his British Columbia hosts sat him down to yet another delicious meal of world famous Sockeye filets. Glancing down at his plate the Prince thundered: "If I have to eat any more salmon, I shall swim up a river and spawn!"

Prince Charles did not inherit his father's viperish tongue - and more's the pity, I'd say. The British gutter press - surely the poorest excuse for killing trees ever offered - has had a field day with Prince Charles. The British hacks perceive his lack of venom as weakness. They speculate on the front pages about his marriage, his manhood. They slam him with headlines like CHARLES THE WIMP.

If I was Prince Charles I think I'd be visiting Fleet Street taverns with a cricket bat under my waistcoat. But he's classier and more Christian than I am. He turns the other cheek.

When I was a kid I used to adore royalty - the flags, the horses, the uniforms, all that colour and glamour. When I was a firebrand, hothead teenager I despised royalty - all that garish ostentation, unearned privilege, colossal waste.

Now that I'm middle-aged and no longer know everything, I feel sorry for royalty. Sorry that they have to go through life as objects. Things to be waved at and smiled at and bowed to and serenaded and applauded but never, ever hugged or squeezed or chucked on the shoulder or bussed on the lips.

There is a story of that most monarchic of all British monarchs, Queen Victoria. The story goes that Victoria was apprised of her ascension to the throne in a very harrowing way. First, she was informed that her king, William IV, was dead - quite enough for any loyal British subject to assimilate at one sitting. But then her advisors trundled out a huge parchment chart of all the Kings and Queens of England. They showed her the thousand years of British history stretching all the way back to the Saxon ruler Egbert, up through the Houses of Normandy, Plantagenet, Lancaster, York, Tudor, Stuart and Hanover, all the way up to the 19th century.

Then they made Victoria look closer, close enough to see the name newly entered below that of William IV.

"Victoria" it read, in still-wet ink.

As the monstrous magnitude of the moment sank in, the new queen burst into tears. Then she swallowed, took a deep breath, sat up ramrod straight and intoned solemnly: "I will be good."

She was eleven years old.

Government's priorities are ironic

Editor:

Recently our little girl became very ill and we had to take her to emergency at the Minden Hospital at approximately 9:30 p.m. Earlier that day I had been to see the doctor with her, and he wanted to admit her under observation then, but there were no beds available in Minden Hospital.

Throughout the day and evening our daughter progressively got worse and after calling the doctor at his home, we were advised she would have to be transferred to Peterborough Civic.

We went to the Minden Hospital while the doctor made the necessary arrangements. In the meantime, I asked the nurse if there had been available room at the Haliburton Hospital could she be admitted there, but we were told our Minden Doctors do not have privileges in Haliburton Hospital and if she were to be admitted, she must be seen by a Haliburton Doctor.

I thought this hospital was designated the "County Hospital" and it seems odd to me that should we have wanted to admit her there that my own doctor could not attend to her needs. However, the issue here, is the fact that we need more beds in the Minden Hospital.

There are only seven beds in the hospital and each one is used on a regular basis.

Minden is growing. Our public school enrollment is increasing and an addition to our school is needed. Minden also has a high influx of seniors retiring in the area. The need is there! We need a larger hospital and not just in Haliburton.

Our hospital provides an invaluable service to this community and I would hate to think what would happen should we not have it.

It is even more ironic to read in the paper last week that PineStone Inn received a $2.5-million loan from the government and our hospitals do without.

I certainly would be interested in starting an expansion fund committee for our hospital and any interested persons, please make your feelings heard to our council. I am sending copies of this letter to the following people and would hope more people will do the same.

Control dogs

Editor:

On April 13 we had to have our family dog, Apache, a springer spaniel, put down at the vet's to end his suffering. Early that morning around 2 a.m., he wanted to go outside, so I got out of bed and took him out, the way I have done countless times over the past 10 years. He finished his business and then he decided to go for a run.

I realize now that I made two mistakes up to this point: (1) I did not keep Apache confined to our property and (2) I did not wait for him to return.

As it turned out he was shot (at approximately 2:30 a.m.) in the face with a high-powered rifle. The bullet went through his mouth, breaking his upper jaw in half and leaving a large bleeding wound.

It has been extremely upsetting for us to learn that he was shot by a member of our own little community. We are unable to understand how a person could injure an animal in such a way and allow it to escape to find a place to die a slow and agonizing death. He should have been destroyed immediately after being injured in such a fashion. Anyone with any mercy would have made sure after injuring an animal in such a way, that he would not have been left to suffer.

At 6:30 a.m. I found him and quickly took him to the vet to be put down.

In summary, everyone should ensure that their dog is not able to leave their property except under tight control. If they do, then you and your pet may face the disturbing, inhumane acts of others.

Mrs. Miller's Grade 2 class from Victoria Street School won a special merit award for their entry in the Children's Art Workshop. More than two hundred people turned out to the opening of the exhibit of art from youths in the county last Tuesday. The outstanding work of these young artists will be displayed at the Rails' End Gallery for the next two weeks.

Traps are cruel

Editor:

I was dismayed and angered by the photo on the front of last week's issue of "The Times" (April 18, 1988), showing a smiling Ministry of Natural Resources Conservation Officer assuring a young man that with a 'soft leg-hold trap' trapping can be done without causing undue pain. What nonsense!

The point in trapping is to kill an animal for its fur. That is an accepted practice in our society. It is also generally accepted that inflicting pain upon another animal, or putting it in a position where such can occur should be avoided. So now we have a 'soft' leghold trap. That means that the animal so caught can be attacked by others just as readily as if the trap were the 'hard' type. It still holds the animal until it dies of thirst, the attack, or infection. Or until it chews off its own leg in its desperation to escape. Or until the trapper tends his trapline and puts the animal out of its misery.

If the point is, ultimately, to kill the animal, surely a relatively fast method of doing so should be employed, such as the Conibear or similar trap. But to say that the 'soft' trap does not cause undue pain totally misses the point. It's surprising that the MNR representative should give such an assurance. As you said in your excellent editorial on another matter, "Governments and bureaucracies act in strange ways and the world is expected to stand back and accept their idiosyncracies (sic - but we know what you mean). The MNR does so much good work, it's a pity that it should be so far off the mark, in this case.

Runners practice in the snow

voices of hhss

by Katy Beach, Dianne Garbutt and Heather Donaldson

Hi there, here we are once again for a look at the exciting events at HHSS.

With all of the snow we got last week, track and field practices were a tad chilly, as well as girls soccer and even gym classes.

There have been some special events in the school lately. About two weeks ago, Lisa Bagshaw won first place in a typing competition and last week Student Council nominees made campaign speeches with an 'eggy' performance from one Candidate. The elections were held April 21 for the positions of president, vice-president, social convenor, secretary and treasurer, but at the time of writing we were unable to bring you the results of these important elections.

The badminton teams won their respective tournaments two weeks ago and last Wednesday the senior team competed in the Kawartha tournament but we did not have the results at the time of writing.

The Stage Band has been receiving many donations from businesses, service clubs and privately. Many thanks go out to everyone who has contributed. A cookie eating contest was held on April 22, a bottle drive on April 23 as well as a flea market in Haliburton sponsored by the ladies auxiliary of the Haliburton Legion Branch 129. On April 29 public concerts will also be held in both villages.

New MNR District Manager gradually getting bearings

Jim Barker,
new District Manager

A varied career with the Ministry of Natural Resources, and Lands and Forests prior to that, has brought Jim Barker to Minden where he has become the new District Manager.

"I still have to get my bearings," Barker said last week. He started at his new job on April 14 and says he is planning to get out and see the District. Although it is often easy to do, he says he can not let all the paper work tie him down. Barker says his first priority will be to get out and meet all the ministry staff in the District. Secondly, he wants to become familiar with all the programs being carried out. And thirdly, he plans to travel around, see the resources and meet the people in the area.

Initially, he will be moving into the Frost Centre, and his wife, Susan, and three children will also soon be moving here from Richmond Hill.

Prior to his appointment here, Barker worked for seven years in Field Operations for the Assistant Deputy Minister of Natural Resources for Southern Ontario. In this capacity he worked out of the Ministry's Maple office.

All told, Barker has worked for the Ministry for 19 years. He was the Regional Lands Coordinator for seven years in the Huntsville District, Supervisor of Lands for three years with the Parry Sound District, and has worked at a variety of programs involving lands, parks and finances.

Nursing homes study released by John Eakins, M.P.P.

In this Queen's Park Report, I would like to discuss two important issues: health services for senior citizens and training in the workplace.

A study has just been released on Ontario's nursing homes and homes for the aged. It was released by my colleague, the Honourable Mavis Wilson, Minister for Senior Citizens' Affairs, and represents part of our government's commitment to revise and rationalize the province's extended care program.

The study finds that many residents in nursing homes and homes for the aged might be more appropriately served with the development of a broader range of community-based, long-term options.

It is interesting that the study's findings confirmed the direction in which the Ministry of Community and Social Services has been moving toward, namely the expansion of community-care alternatives.

The next phase of the rationalization of extended care is a cost study regarding the programming and financial aspects of nursing homes and homes for the aged.

The other interesting development recently came from my colleague, the Honourable Alvin Curling, Minister of Skills Development. For the first time in Canada, a public corporation has been launched and designed specifically to provide services and make investments to stimulate training in the workplace.

The Ontario Training Corporation is a partnership among business, labour, educators, the training community and the Ontario Government.

It will offer a skills bank, train-the-trainer services and training investment funds.

The corporation will share in revenues from joint ventures, investment in training materials and the export sale of proven training packages.

The Ontario Training Corporation, incorporated under the Ontario Business Corporation Act, will have an annual operating budget of about $7-million. It will be headed by David Lewis, Vice-Chairman and Director of Lloyds Bank Canada.

OPENING FRIDAY, APRIL 29

(located in former Highlands T.V. Building)

Track meet runs Tuesday

Tomorrow, April 26, our school track and field meet will be held weather and participation permitting.

On a sentimental note, last week the grade 13's of Mr. Stouffer's calculus class presented him with a very special gift. The mobile was still playing when our class started. Congratulations!

One of our writers is having a birthday this week. Happy Birthday Kate!

Until next week - adieu.

Plan your escape

Knowing what to do in the event of a fire in your home can prevent injury or death. Plan escape routes from all parts of your home and know how to contact your fire department. Discuss the plan with every member of your family, including children and overnight guests on what to do in the event of fire.

Vaccinate Your Pets

Pet owners should know that rabies vaccination protects both the animal and its human companions. In the past 10 years rabies was diagnosed in 16,392 animals in Ontario of which 1,408 were dogs and cats. More than half of the 12,000 people who had to be vaccinated during this period had been exposed to dogs and cats. Rabies vaccine provides animals with an effective barrier against infection from four weeks after the inoculation for a period of a year or more. Cats require more frequent booster vaccinations than dogs to maintain a good level of immunity, but your veterinarian's advice on the frequency of vaccination for both dogs and cats should be followed.

Legion buys Fireside

The search for a home for the newly-formed Minden Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion has come to a close, and in a few weeks, members will be occupying the building now known as the Fireside Restaurant.

"We are no longer a paper Legion," said Legion Building Chairman Dave McAdam. Members of Branch 636 will take possession of the building on Highway 35 as of April 28.

McAdam said the decision to purchase the Fireside was made quickly because the members did not want to lose the opportunity to buy the building. Although a number of other locations were being considered, the Fireside offered an ideal location, and a chance to move right in. Although some minor changes will eventually be needed, McAdam said the building allows the Legion to set up right away.

Another advantage to the Fireside building is that it offers the potential of generating money to help repay the loans that were necessary to buy the building. He said the purchase price of the land, building and various chattels amounts to $275,000.

To help finance the purchase, the Legion has been offering debentures to businesses and individuals. An ambitious fund-raising drive is already underway to begin repaying the mortgage, and debentures are still being offered.

Rachel Mary Brown and Virginia Adamson were sporting wide smiles after winning first and second prizes in a poetry contest sponsored by the Dental Health Association. Both Virginia and Rachel are Grade 3 students in Mrs. Newton's class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

County to receive $290,000 for road work

The Ministry of Transportation has approved supplementary funding grants amounting to $289,600 for nine Haliburton County municipalities. Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins made the announcement last week on behalf of Transportation Minister Ed Fulton. The funds are in addition to the normal annual ministry allocation.

Dysart et al Townships receive $52,500 for the purchase of a plow truck; Anson, Hindon and Minden will receive $33,900 for work on the Scotch Line Road; Lutterworth Township will receive $44,200 for a plow truck; Sherborne Township will get $32,500 for work on Fletcher Lake

We petition your support and request your complete assistance in the following matter.

It has been proposed by the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Province of Ontario to designate many commercial and residential properties along the Gull River in the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden and Lutterworth as Flood Plain. This arbitrary decision is being undertaken without any plan of compensation for property devaluation and as it would appear, totally restricts any development within said areas. There has been no indication either from the Trent-Severn Waterway or the Province of Ontario to use any precautionary measures which virtually would negate and/or greatly minimize any risk of flooding. These alternatives simply stated are better control of water flow to the Trent-Severn Waterways, development of a reservoir system (emergency) to reduce the risk of any potential flooding and dredging of the many feet of silt and debris which presently exists in the bed of the Gull River which ultimately is creating erosion of the existing river banks.

We implore you to use your influence in this very devastating and urgent matter to help rectify the injustices that are being inflicted on the affected residents.

Thank you for your anticipated support and co-operation at all levels of Government.

Toronto's garbage not coming to Lutterworth

Lutterworth Township will not be accepting Toronto's garbage.

At last Thursday's meeting, Lutterworth Township Council decided to reject Toronto's offer to set up a landfill site in the township as a form of local industry. The offer was made to every municipality within 300 km of the city.

Although council had previously postponed its decision on this matter, they had no trouble in rejecting it on Thursday.

HEAT PUMPS BEAT THE OTHERS COLD.

They do it with a remarkable air conditioning function that cuts through summer heat. And they do it with a level of efficiency that can cut your winter heating bills just as effectively. No other system delivers that kind of year-round comfort.

THE ADDED PLUS OF MAXIMUM EFFICIENCY.

Heat pumps are so versatile they can even be added to your present forced-air heating system. Instantly giving you cooler summers. And their super efficiency means heat pumps actually deliver more energy than they use.

LOW, LOW FINANCING.

We'll even arrange an unbeatable financing package through the EnerMark loan plan, offering you interest rates below prime.

Air conditioning. Lower heating costs. Low financing. Just a few reasons why you can't beat the heat pump.

Justice system promises compensation

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Despite the many safeguards in our criminal justice system, innocent persons are occasionally convicted and imprisoned. Although rare, there have been three recent cases that demanded attention. Donald Marshall spent 11 years in a Nova Scotia prison for murder. Norman Fox of Vancouver was convicted of rape and received a ten-year sentence and, in Alberta, Wilfred Truscott was sentenced to 18 months for assault. Compensation was awarded in all three cases.

Guidelines for compensating persons who have been wrongfully convicted and imprisoned were endorsed at the federal-provincial meeting of attorneys general and justice ministers in Saskatoon.

The federal government will cost-share with the provinces 50 per cent of the compensation costs arising from provincial prosecutions.

Eligibility for compensation will depend upon the following:

- The wrongful conviction must have resulted in imprisonment;
- Compensation will go only to the actual person imprisoned;
- Conviction and imprisonment must be under a Criminal Code or other federal penal offence;

- There must be a free pardon granted under Section 683 (2) of the Code or a verdict of acquittal by an Appellate Court pursuant to a referral by the Justice Minister under Section 617 (b) of the Code;

- All available appeal remedies must have been exhausted and a new fact has emerged, showing a miscarriage of justice; and

- Compensation should only be granted to those persons who did not commit the crime for which they were convicted.

A judicial or administrative inquiry to examine the matter of compensation will be appointed by the provincial or federal minister responsible for criminal justice.

This fills an important gap in the criminal justice system and reflects the government's commitment to social justice for all Canadians.

It also demonstrates the atmosphere of close federal - provincial co-operation cultivated by this government.

Legion hits home run for your service

by John Beatty, Legion Branch 636

Homerun! We have a home! Minden Branch 636 of The Royal Canadian Legion is about to become the proud new owner of "The Fireside". Work to make it operational Legion style has begun. Debentures are still sought to help ease the load (contact A. Orpana 286-3188). A sincere heartfelt thanks to all involved.

The Special Meeting For Nominations and Election Night is this Wednesday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m., in the Auditorium of the Community Centre. All Members be sure and attend this most important Legion function. Zone Commander Stan Moore will preside over the proceedings.

Just in case you haven't noticed the posters around town, we are into a fund-raising raffle to further support the building purchase: boat, motor and trailer - tickets $5.00 each (only 2500 tickets printed) 12 foot aluminum boat - Springbok, 750 lb. capacity trailer, 8 h.p. Johnston motor. Tickets available from any Legion Member (or Ron at 286-3968). Draw to be held at the Fall Fair.

Until official opening day at the new location, we still gather socially every Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Community Centre Auditorium. Guests with members are more than welcome.

Several new members, transfers and fraternal, were warmly accepted at the recent general meeting. Our next General Meeting is Wednesday night, May 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the former Fireside Restaurant, Minden.

A beautiful quilt has been donated by Aileen Blears. People like this make a Legion. The draw to be held at the Legion Hall, September 5 (only 1,500 tickets printed). Tickets available from any Legion Member at $1.00 each. It will be on display at our new location in the near future.

The Times has generously offered this opportunity to report to our fellow citizens, on a monthly basis. Good Legion Members pitch in and volunteer. Once the Legion Building is officially opened, we will properly fulfill our mandate to assist Veterans, their families, and the Minden community at large.

Helping the bluebird

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Three springs ago near Grimsby, in an orchard nestled against the escarpment, I saw an Eastern Bluebird for the first time in nearly 40 years. I heard it before I saw it, a mellow song which nagged at my memory. Then it came to me. Pictures of summers spent on Lake Muskoka, and of a bird the colour of midsummer sky which nested every year in the hollow of a fencepost in a rocky field. Both the male and the more demurely coloured female would perch on the then newly installed hydro lines and drop down into the field to catch the insects that are the Bluebird's staple food. The male would often sing from its perch the song I was hearing in the orchard near Grimsby.

There were Mocking Birds in the orchard and I had been watching one through my binoculars and listening to its song which included snatches of the Robin's, Brown Thrasher's and Northern Oriole's songs. But I had not expected a Bluebird this early in March, although I knew they'd nested here in previous years in boxes provided by the owner of the orchard. When I found the male he was perched, like the singers of my youth on the hydro wire. The vividness of his blue back made me feel as though I had never seen blue before.

With its terra cotta breast, the Bluebird is very like the Robin; in fact it is often called the blue robin. But it is trimmer and more delicate than the Robin and more inclined to mind its own business. It is not aggressive, and that is at least partly the reason I had not seen one for so long.

The Bluebird will only nest in cavities and it has been harried and driven out of many nesting sites by aggressive foreigners like the House Sparrow and the Starling which also prefer to nest in cavities. Both birds will persist in attacks on nesting bluebirds until they drive them away.

These cavity nesting sites are in short supply now. Few people leave dead or dying large trees on their property. The urge to tidy is strong, and people forget that many creatures, including birds like Woodpeckers, Chickadees, Tree Swallows and Bluebirds, find food and shelter in these trees. That other standby for cavity nesters, the wooden fencepost, is rapidly being replaced by pressure treated or metal posts.

Hard winters in their wintering areas in the southeastern U.S. have also been devastating for the Eastern Bluebird. By the sixties the bluebird population was in serious decline and by the mid-seventies the Eastern Bluebird was declared by the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Committee on the Status of Endangered Wildlife in Canada to be rare in Ontario.

Concerned groups in the U.S. and Canada decided to try to help the Bluebird by providing artificial nesting cavities for them.

In Minnesota the Department of Transportation works with the Department of Natural Resources on many conservation and restoration projects. One of these has been the erection of Bluebird nesting boxes attached to right-of-way fence posts. The grassy unsprayed right-of-way provides a plentiful supply of insects for the nesting birds. To prevent tree swallows or sparrows from taking over all the boxes, the boxes are set out in pairs. If the Tree Swallows nest in one box they will not permit another Tree Swallow to nest in the other, but have no objection to Bluebird neighbours. Here in Ontario Bluebirds nesting by roadsides would perish from the pesticides routinely used on road verges.

In Ontario private groups have been involved in setting out Bluebird nest boxes. Their efforts seem a tiny way of repairing the damage humans did by introducing aggressors like the House Sparrow and Starling into North America. Now a new generation may hope to catch a glimpse of a piece of sky come to earth.

If you would like to find out more about setting out boxes for Bluebirds, the Federation of Ontario Naturalists has just produced a brochure about Bluebirds which is available free. Simply send your request together with a stamped self-addressed envelope to Marion Strebig at the FON, 355 Lesmill Drive, Don Mills, M3B 2W8.

Will host seminar

The Minden and District Horticultural Society will host the 1988 District 4 Spring Seminar on Saturday April 30 at the Minden Recreation Centre from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This is a first for Minden and it is hoped that a good turnout will back the local society in its endeavours. District four takes in a good sized area: Port Hope and Cobourg on the south and coming north takes in Lindsay and Peterborough and extends to the north as far as Haliburton.

Mr. Jim Trotter of Hastings, district director says the members to the south are eagerly awaiting this day.

Registration with coffee begins at 9 a.m. Competitions will also be set up at this time.

Many interesting items during the day are included. Special speakers during the day will be:

David Leader from the Ministry of Natural Resources has so much to offer in relation to forestry management reforestation etc. He will be a guest speaker with films.

Dr. Robert Heyes will be on hand to tell us all about lilies.

Mr. Len Shea will share his knowledge about gardening in retirement.

There will also be a film on safety.

This all brings a wealth of information and interest.

Registration fee is $4.00. As is the custom for this, each brings his own lunch, beverage is provided.

The regular horticulture meeting will be held on Tuesday May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the court room (municipal building).

In spite of the cool, backward weather conditions, we are hopeful that things soon improve for good gardening. With seedlings undergoing tender loving care, they are growing quite nicely.

Some seedlings hug our window sills, some nestle in hot beds while others experience life in a greenhouse, whether it be of plaster or glass.

At our May meeting, we will be treated by George Tipton who will share his greenhouse experience with us. He has plenty of interesting information along these lines. The Tiptons have many rare and unusual plants. George will be willing to tell us of these and there will be plenty of time for questions. See you there!

Draw prizes and refreshments as usual also monthly competition. Competition list for the entire season is available at the Pine Shop - free for the asking.

PLAY IT SAFE!

Never fake trouble in the water. Remember the story about the boy who cried "wolf" once too often?

Dear Readers

It's a beautiful day after our second winter.

Our Sunday evening chapel service was conducted by Rev. J. Burgess and Tuesday morning by Rev. Kent. We miss having an organist.

I am pleased to say Ruby Lewis is much improved in health, also Edna Cowan and Mrs. Burgess. Mary O'Toole and Marjorie Schuyler are still in hospital but I understand they will be home soon. Jean Taylor and Ada Lewis have had a bad case of the 'flu but are much better now. Royce Harrison is also on the sick list. We hope he will be feeling better soon.

The movie Monday evening was "The Baboons". Our tea Thursday afternoon was by some of the residents and everything was lovely. Some unforeseen event happened and the visiting ladies couldn't make it from the UCW of Haliburton.

Anna Gordon and Jean Hewitt were in to see me yesterday. We had the Silvert's merchants here to sell their lovely dresses etc.

Some of Bert Harrison's family were in on the weekend to visit with him. My grandson Derek Hewitt from Burlington came on Saturday and took me for dinner at George and Jean Hewitts. In the afternoon we played rummy, it's a new kind they play now so of course I didn't win but watch out next time. Mrs. Schulz had some of her family in on the weekend.

When you come to the home to visit, you will notice a new Canadian flag flying on our flagpole. This flag is compliments of Mr. Bill Scott, our MP, who so graciously gave us this flag since our old one had seen better days. Thank you very much Bill Scott for your donation.

You should see the nice new aprons manufactured by Winnie Barnum for the kitchen ladies.

More new next week.

"A cheerful word is never wasted, it often travels farther than you think."

Minden W.I. met April 20

Jeanne Sears, P.R.O.

The second vice president Mrs. R. Harrington, chaired the April 20 meeting of Minden Women's Institute at the Common Room. After the usual opening, members responded to the Roll Call by payment of dues with 21 present. One new member, Mrs. Eldon Deacon, was made welcome. There was the District Director's report read by Mrs. Lyman Cox with details for us and Victoria East District Annual is at Norland on May 24.

Collections were taken for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship. Card convener Mrs. W. Moore read of sending 24 cards since last meeting and also her yearly report is a very important service and surely appreciated by sick, shut-ins or those suffering a loss. The Honoraria were paid to secretary and treasurer. Mrs. A. Kernohan our treasurer had a very excellent yearly report and we made a vote of thanks to her for continuing in this work. A donation of $25 is going to the HHSS Stage Band toward their Calgary trip expenses.

Members note the June meeting will be on the 15th, please change the date on your programme.

Mrs. Moore conducted the election of officers with Mrs. C. Wilson presenting the nominator's report and showed a few changes. A quiz on our twin province Prince Edward Island with the winner being Bea Taylor.

The Tweedsmuir Books, a plaque, our new flag and letters were on display. We are pleased that some materials from these books will be of use in the Museum Heritage insert.

After adjournment all enjoyed a social half hour.

Next meeting will be May 18 at the same place and don't forget your plants and slips for the auction.

Investing in land

prepared by the
Haliburton Real Estate
Board

March - April - May - June! Remember the song, "June is busting out all over"? Well, we are fast approaching that month that historically breaks all Church records for being the "Month for Weddings". Picture this ... You are a newly married couple and such you are probably both working and bringing in salaries. Your salaries may or may not be at the level you think you should be earning, but nonetheless, the fact is that this is the time to start planning your financial future, because in these years, prior to starting to have a family, you have the best opportunity to build your savings. Resist the temptation to spend all your resources on "toys" and initiate a separate savings plan aimed at purchasing your first piece of real estate. Renting a house, or paying for an expensive vacation once or twice a year, initially will appear to be the most inexpensive way of putting a roof over your head or just having that good time. But in fact, it is like flushing your money down the drain! In years to come you will have nothing for that money.

O.K. You've decided to take the big step! Historically, buying real estate has been one of the best investments ... if you have thought wisely. You will be tempted to buy the cheapest. Don't buy just any piece of real estate.

Things to keep in mind: 1) Future value increases - any real estate that has potential. 2) Interest rates - a feel for the trends through your Banker. 3) Supply and demand - what you buy, you eventually will sell. Will someone want what you have? 4) Your need for cash flow - real estate is not "liquid" money. 5) Your future life - changes can quickly affect priorities. 6) Renovating the old vs buying/building the new?? - Don't over-invest in a structure that should really be torn down. On the other hand, a solid, other structure has many qualities a new one never will have, and you may end up with a higher profit! 7) Location - the biggest mistake individuals make in buying is to ignore the importance of location. It looks pretty - buy it? Beware. Also, don't build a gorgeous building on a terrible lot. Over-investing in a lot is a major pitfall of many buyers. 8) Emotions - falling in love is wonderful, but it gets us humans into a lot of trouble ... agreed? An expensive emotion. Reserve is the best approach (at least when falling in love with real estate).

The honeymoon is over and your life has settled into conjugal bliss. The real estate you bought way-back-when has increased in value beyond your wildest expectations. You begin to wonder if this is the right time to sell. The decision you make is not

IN MEMORIAM

NESBITT: In memory of a dear father, George James Nesbitt, who passed away April 17, 1982.

Dad's time had come to go
And there's nothing I could do
Only hold his hand and say goodbye
Father's days with his children are through
This is the dreaded hour we all must face someday
I just told Dad "goodbye" and knelt beside his bed
And heard him say I'll meet you someday when the white roses turn to red
So those of you with fathers Cherish them with care
Because you'll never know the heartache
Till you no longer have him there.

Sadly missed and never to be forgotten, daughter Joyce
